Star-spangled blast Explosion levels building

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Some residents of Romulus got an unexpected fireworks show early Sunday morning, when a brick building used to store legal fireworks exploded.

There were no injuries, but many residents reported that the blast "shook" their homes at 12:20 a.m. Sunday morning. People as far away as Taylor and Canton Township were reported as having heard the explosion.

"We thought it was a plane crash," said Mary Qualls, who lives approximately 600 feet from the storage building, which was being used by her nephew, Glen Qualls of Emily City. "It knocked us out of bed, and we ran and got the kids before we realized what it was."

"There was nothing we could do except sit down and watch the fireworks show."

According to fireworks entrepreneur Glen Qualls, there was "anywhere between $15,000-$30,000 worth of fireworks lost. I'm not sure yet just how much, I'm still going over the

The majority of the fireworks in the building were Class B fireworks, or "special" fireworks. Unlike Class C, which are legal to sell and use in Michigan and include sparklers, smoke bombs and snakes, Class B fireworks are sold to cities and organizations for large sky shows, usually on the 4th of July.

"I'm licensed by the federal government, but I also have to abide by Michigan's laws, so while my building wasn't even full by Michigan standards, by federal guidelines I could have had five times as much in there," said Qualls.

The building, described by Qualls as "being made of cinder blocks, reinforced concrete and a two-inch steel door," had no windows.

"The concern about safety," said Quall, "seems to have made a case for itself with the system we developed, which is over and above any of the federal or state guidelines. Even though I'm told the blast was heard over five miles away, I don't think there was a single pane of glass broken, which is something."

According to Mary Quall, "the house shook and the explosion blew the shelves and pictures off the walls, but no windows or glass of any kind was broken." Romulus Lt. Detective Ken Kraus backed that statement up, saying there had been no damage reports.

Witnesses say that there was a second explosion, approximately four to five minutes after the initial blast.

"The door of the building ended up wrapped around a tree over 400 feet away," said Qualls, adding that "it was just a horrible experience, I hope we never go through anything like that again."

Monday afternoon, police, fire and arson inspectors were investigating the scene.

According to police, arson is a possibility, although no one has yet been charged.

"I'm sure we're going to be covering all aspects of it, arson, see if it was a breaking and entering or whatever," said Kraus.

All gone

An explosion that leveled a concrete fireworks storage building early Sunday and was reportedly heard as far away as Canton Township had local, state and federal inspectors on the scene Monday searching for a possible cause. Arson has not been ruled out, nor has the possibility that some of the contents had been removed from the building prior to the blast. There were no injuries reported.

Must be Santa

There's only one person who can bring that big of a smile to a youngster's face this time of the year. Yep, it must be Santa. And from the look on four-year-old Carrie Brown's face, the Jolly Old Elf must have told her her best behavior has rated a grand Christmas Day. The twosome met each other during the recent City of Romulus tree lighting ceremony.

Nashville firm eyes purchase of PCHA hospitals

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

Representatives of the largest hospital management firm in the world have expressed an interest in purchasing the facilities operated by the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA), which includes Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The Nashville-based Hospital Corporation of America, which owns and manages 420 hospitals with annual revenues of approximately $4.5 billion, would return all tax assessments paid by the 24 member communities as part of a purchase agreement, according to Robert Hardison, HCA vice-president of development and acquisition.

"We have been asked by groups of public officials to take a look at it (ownership of PCHA holdings)," admitted Hardison during a phone interview last Friday. "The officials are looking for an alternative and they'd like the communities to get their money back."

"There hasn't been a formal request from the PCHA board for us to submit an offer or proposal," he added, "but we are interested. We hope the board will ask us to look at the situation in depth."

Some 20 city officials, including Mayors Betty Miller of Inkster and Beverly McAnally of Romulus, have toured HCA facilities in Nashville at the invitation of Ken Gremore, a consultant for HCA and former PCHA executive director.

"The next step is to get an appraisal of all the assets," explained Gremore, who was ousted as executive director of the authority in October of 1965. "This corporation was founded 16 years ago and has the expertise and purchasing power to run the hospital much more efficiently."

"They would rebate every dollar paid in assessments since the inception of the PCHA (1947)," he claimed. "Then the hospitals would be put on the tax rolls. I would like to see the purchase take place within the next 90 days."

In addition to Annapolis and Beyer, the PCHA owns and operates Heritage Hospital in Taylor, Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park, Seaway Hospital in Trenton, and PCHA-Oakwood Health Center in Brownstown

"I don't believe that PCHA will be sold to a for-profit group. The PCHA is functioning well. My concern is what is in the background."

— Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton

Township. Participating communities are assessed .2 mill annually and operations are governed by a 47-member board of directors, including representatives from each community. Administration headquarters are located in Wayne.

HCA owns and manages hospitals with some 65,000 beds in 40 states and various countries, among them Australia, England and Africa. The corporation does not own any hospitals in Michigan, however.

Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton, PCHA vice-chairman, expressed vehement opposition to a sale of the PCHA facilities when contacted last Friday.

"I don't believe that PCHA will ever be sold to a for-profit organization," he declared. "The PCHA is functioning well; to alter it would be a crime and a scandal."

"My concern is what is in the background that the public doesn't know about," said Norton, noting that a proposal had not been introduced to the board. "My understanding is that corporate jets are being used to fly people back and forth from Nashville, but yet the company has not contacted the PCHA officially."

Norton said that neither Chairman Donald Pizzimenti nor other leaders of the board, including himself, had been contacted by HCA.

"The fact that a company would conduct themselves in such a fashion is a disgrace," he said. Norton, a PCHA member for 20 years, termed a proposed rebate of assessment monies to the communities as "preposterous."

"Those funds would go to the taxpayers who paid it ... the assessments were done individually."

The vice-chairman also said a sale to a private concern would lessen community involvement in health care and "severely affect every employee" of the hospitals.

According to Gremore, who estimated PCHA assets at $100 million, a sale to HCA would result in rebates of approximately $2.9 million to Westland; $1.3 million, Wayne; $1.6 million, Romulus; $1.1 million, Inkster; $900,000, Van Buren; $390,000, Huron; $297,000, Sumpter and $59,000, Belleville. Each participating community also would receive 1/24 of the total purchase price, Gremore revealed.

Hardison said that 28 publicly operated hospitals have been sold to private corporations within the past year.

"Health care has become so complicated, so involved," said Hardison in explaining the trend to private ownership. "Every hospital has to make a profit. In Michigan we'd be looking for a profit margin of between 2½ and four percent pre-tax and we feel other PCHA (hospitals) would fit in that range."

Hardison said that HCA would establish a board of directors at each hospital if the company is successful in purchasing PCHA facilities. Each board would be comprised of physicians and community leaders on a 50-50 basis.

Asked about a timetable to convert a bid request from PCHA into an offer, Hardison responded, "we've done it in a week; sometimes in six months."

The PCHA was formed in accordance with the Hospital Authority Act of 1945 as a public means to provide health care facilities. In recent years disputes centering around tax levies and members-at-large berths have polarized the board.

W-W students discover spirit of holiday

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

When one thinks of the needy at Christmastime, the name Goodfellows come to mind. That is the organization long associated with making sure the less fortunate have a Christmas despite their financial circumstances.

But the plight of the needy isn't being forgotten by students in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, where along with the traditional Christmas concerts and parties, a healthy dose of caring and sharing is taking place.

Youngsters from Kindergarten through the 12th-grade are getting involved in helping others through a variety of projects, many funded through events sponsored by the students themselves.

At Taft-Galloway School in Wayne second-graders have been preparing gifts for needy children that will be given to the American Red Cross. Neighboring Hoover School has been actively involved in the Junior Red Cross stocking project, as well as collecting toys for the "Toys for Tots" program.

At Schweitzer School in Westland the Student Council has filled 25 Christmas stockings and is coordinating a canned goods collection for the Red Cross, as well as school-wide participation in "Toys for Tots."

At Fischer Elementary School in the soon to be merged Cherry Hill School District, "Christmas Around the World" and a Santa Secret Shop were provided for the youngsters who in turn shared their good fortune with the needy through a food collection, called "Project Share."

A PTA-sponsored "Can-Do" food collection program has been taking place at Marshall Junior High in Westland. A tradition for the music department is the delivery of poinsettia plants to area convalescent homes, but the Student Council is keeping non-musical students busy with its collection of mittens and hats for handicapped youngsters in the school district and a collection of canned foods for needy families in the Marshall attendance area.

The Student Council also is purchasing turkeys for food baskets and contributed $400 to the "Save the Children Fund, the result of a schoolwide collection and matching funds from the council.

At Adams Junior High School, students have been enjoying a series of concerts this month, resting after staging a canned students have also been busy with concerts, culminating this week with musical presentations at its elementary feeder schools on Tuesday. Mixed in with concert schedule has been work on the Red Cross' stocking gifts for the needy.

Franklin Junior High students have been pitching in to help the Wayne Goodfellows with its "Toys for Tots" Project, while the Student Council has been busy keeping up with its "Candy Grams" exchange project.

At John Glenn High School in Westland, emphasis has been placed on "Operation Can-Do" to collect food for needy families, as well as preparation for caroling at convalescent homes with representatives of Wayne Memorial High School. The Student Council has been keeping its Santa Claus on overtime, answering requests for elementary school children.

At Wayne Memorial, students are literally stocking shelves with canned goods as part of their contribution to a merrier Christmas for those in need.

For participants in the adult education program, this Christmas the sharing will be among fellow students, who will gather for a pot luck dinner tomorrow. Not only will they share their favorite foods, they also will be sharing the fellowship of the holiday season with each other.

At the Tinkham Adult Learning Center, adult activity clients will enjoy a traditional Christmas party and gift exchange, complete with a visit from Santa Claus who will present each client with a gift and stocking from the staff.

The Project Advance Residential Alternative Care clients are planning their own Christmas luncheon, which will be held on Friday, and will be in the kitchen to help staff members make cookies and salads for the get-together.

Students 'sing' Merry Christmas

Students from Halecreek and Hayti schools are joining forces to help spread a hearty "Merry Christmas!" feeling throughout the City of Romulus.

Yesterday, the students set up shop and sang Christmas carols in the southwest corner of Manufacturer's Bank in the downtown area. From there, they visited with Romulus Chamber of Commerce president Bill Simonds at Bilmar's Supermarket, where the "official" Christmas tree of the city is located.

From there, the students visited and spread good cheer at the Beacon Day Care Center, at Romulus City Hall, where they were greeted by Mayor Beverly McNally, and then to McDonalds, where a hearty lunch awaited them.

Tomorrow (Thursday) the students will make their second outing, only this time after leaving Bilmar's they'll head to Romulus Senior Citizen Towers and to the offices of the Romulus School Board before heading to McDonalds.

McDonalds Restaurant will be selling each student a hamburger, fries and Coke for $1. The Romulus PTG will pay for the lunches.

DIDN'T I SAY last week that there is talent in Romulus? Charles Shamey knows first hand what kind of talent we have here. He is the high school Drama Director.

Last Wednesday Denise Berlin and Levon Alexander played the parts of a white female professor and a black student from New York University in a production of "Open Admissions."

Afterward, Shamey directed the play "Hey Teach," which is about a high school journalism class researching the reason their cafeteria food is so poor. With the help of their teacher they find that the cook is Louie the Lug who was previously a garage mechanic.

Our star performers were: Misty Kutcher playing Miss Douglas; Kim Kinkle playing Susan Langden; Joe Demeter playing Jazz; Wayne Lawson playing Jock; three cheerleaders played by Michelle Stoddard, Charlene Ozment and Kathy Engle; Kristie Miller playing Tyra Walters; Towanda Redmond playing Laurie Phillips; Ken Kitchens playing Tim Lombard; Lynda Kuhn playing Angel Thompson; Laura Bergman playing Carrie Holloway; Renee Cann playing Gail Sanders; David Furtaw playing Bull; Lonnie Turner playing Dwight; and Tim Meehan playing Phil Wallace.

About 250 people attended the performances at Wick Elementary School last Wednesday. Halecreek Elementary School hosted a performance of "Hey Teach" on Thursday. The cast wrapped up the active week with a trip to the Wayne State University Bonstelle Theater to see "A Christmas Carol," a well earned treat.

Tom Dolan, who is director at Beacon speaks proudly of the excellent participation not only with the Parent Advisory Committee but with other activities as well. More than 150 parents attended their Thanksgiving Dinner. About 80 percent turn out for conferences four times a year. With that many interested parents working with a dedicated staff like that at Beacon, it's no wonder the program has been designated as a model program by the Michigan Department of Special Education.

Beacon is a definite complement to our school system and a fine example for the design of other special education programs.

THE HAPPY LADY at the Helping Hand Thrift Shop was so touched by your response to her plea, she wrote this to you:

"Christmas is coming, it soon will be here. The support you gave us, has helped to spread cheer, not just at Christmas, but all through the year. Supplies from your Drive are what made us survive. Some things are sold at a reasonable price, it helps pay our bills and that really is nice. Those giving money are assured where it goes. All projects have bills as every one knows. Gas, lights, phone and rent, that is where most of it was spent. We had helped people with it, but now must pay bills. A rent free building would sure cure our ills. Our volunteers don't just put in their time, to give from their hearts is what makes them so fine. "Merry Christmas. Have a good year. This includes all of you. If you want to help yet, there's a job you can do ... just bow down your head and say a prayer or two. Or stop in and see the good work they we do. We're open on Tuesday from 9 until 2. The same goes for Wednesday or Thursday it's true. Thank you so much and God bless all of you."

Metroparks 'groom' cross country ski trails

One of the most popular winter activities at the Huron-Clinton Metroparks is cross-country skiing. Cross-country skiing is available at seven Metroparks, weather permitting, which serve the citizens of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Specially marked and groomed trails are available at several parks — Stony Creek Metropark near Utica (phone 781-4242) has more than 15 miles of groomed trails from 1.7 miles and longer, Kensington Metropark near Mildford/Brighton (phone 685-1561) has more than 15 miles of groomed trails from 1 to 4½ miles; Huron Meadows Metropark near Brighton (phone 1-800-552-6772) has 6 miles of groomed trails; Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter (phone 426-8211) has more than 5¼ miles of groomed trails; Willow Metropark near New Boston (phone 697-9181) has more than 4½ miles of groomed trails stretching from 1 to 3½ miles and nearby Oakwoods Metropark (phone 697-9181) near Flat Rock has 3 miles of groomed trails. For information persons also may phone 1-800-552-6772 (toll-free).

Cross-country skiing is also available — with persons making their own trails across the terrain — at Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens (phone 463-4581); Indian Springs Metropark near Clarkston (phone 685-1561 Ext. 482) and Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville (phone 697-9181).

The use of the cross-country ski trails is free. Vehicle entry charges — annual, regular, $7, senior citizens, $2, or daily, $2 — are in effect year-around.

Cross-country ski rental service is available at four Metroparks Stony Creek Metropark near Utica/Rochester; Kensington Metropark near Milford/Brighton; Huron Meadows Metropark near Brighton; and Willow Metropark near New Boston.

Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks, located near New Boston and Flat Rock, have a program of cross-country skiing equipment rentals and specially developed trails up to 7½ miles in length.

A Ski Touring Center, located at the Swimming Pool Complex of Willow Metropark, will be in operation daily, weather permitting.

The Ski Touring Center is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends (closed Christmas Day) and continues service through February of 1985 (snow conditions permitting).

Equipment rentals include skis, poles, boots and bindings for use on special beginner trails near the pool site or advanced cross-country trails throughout the park. Rental rates are complete set half day, $5; skis only, half day, $2; boots only, half day, $2; poles only, half day, $1. An insurance fee of $2 per set is required on all equipment. Rental equipment is for use in Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks only and acceptable identification must be presented at time of rental. When equipment is returned in satisfactory condition, identification and one half of the insurance fee is returned.

The Ski Touring Center has food service, coin lockers, and heated restrooms. Ski rental service will be offered only when there is sufficient snow cover and according to the rules established for Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks.

Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks have a cross-country ski folder available. For information phone 697-9181 (Belleville) or toll-free 1-800-552-6772.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Tracy Cline

Undeclared in 13 trips to the mat this season, Romulus's Tracy Cline helped the Eagles capture their first Westland John Glenn Invitational Championship. Cline is considered a "premier" candidate to capture state honors in his weight class. "Tracy is a hard-worker who is among the best wrestlers I have ever coached," said Wayne

Terry Mills

A junior who stands 6 feet, 9½, Terry Mills has been labeled the No. 1 high school junior cager in the country this season. Despite all of the pressure, Terry has shown himself to be a class all-around player as he has come up with 25-plus points in each of the three games thus far this season. The Eagles are 2-1 on the season and could become the best team in the school's history if the pieces fall into place. And Mills is the player who will provide Coach Al Wilkerson's team that impetus for victory.

Schimming. "The team banks on Tracy a lot and looks to him for leadership. He is a very unselfish athlete."

RESOLUTION

AUTHORIZING THE SALE, ISSUANCE AND DELIVERY OF PROJECT NOTES AND THE EXECUTION OF REQUISITION AGREEMENTS

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus, Michigan is undertaking the development and/or operation of one or more low-rent or indian projects and may engage in such undertakings in respect to additional projects all pursuant to the terms of one or more Annual Contributions Contracts with the United States of America providing for a loan by the Government to the Local Issuing Agency for financing the low-rent or Indian housing project(s) described in the Contract and herein called the "Project"; and

WHEREAS: the Local Issuing Agency proposes to issue Project Notes as hereinafter provided:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Local Issuing Agency as follows:

Section 1. For the purpose of providing funds to pay expenses incurred or to be incurred pursuant to the Contract or to refund, renew or extend its outstanding Notes issued in connection therewith, the Local Issuing Agency hereby determines to issue its Project Notes for purchase by the public from time to time in amounts which shall not exceed the aggregate loan amount or the Estimated Development Cost specified in the Contract, as the case may be.

Section 2.a. The Department of Housing and Urban Development is hereby authorized and directed to advertise from time to time the public sale of Project Notes of the Local Issuing Agency by causing the publication of a Notice of Sale thereof in the Daily Bond Buyer, a financial newspaper published in the City of New York, New York. The City Clerk shall publish the Notice of Sale in a newspaper pursuant to State law, if required. The Notice of Sale for publication locally shall be substantially in the form of HUD-9001, which is incorporated herein by reference. The Notice of Sale to be published in the Daily Bond Buyer may be included in a consolidated Notice of Sale. Each Notice of Sale shall be published at intervals in accordance with a schedule of advertising arranged in cooperation with the Government. Each separate issue of Project Notes advertised for sale shall be numbered in consecutive series.

b. Each proposal submitted for all or a part of any series of Project Notes shall be in substantially the form of HUD-9002, which is incorporated herein by reference and is hereby approved by the Local Issuing Agency.

Section 3.a. The Government, through the Regional Administrator or his designee in the HUD Regional Office having jurisdiction over the Local Issuing Agency, is authoried to act on behalf of the Local Issuing Agency, open and review all proposals which are received for the purchase of Project Notes on each date at the time and place specified in the duly published Notice of Sale for the Project Notes listed therein. Upon completion of the review, the contents of all proposals shall be communicated by telephone to the HUD Central Office with a recommendation for award; and

b. HUD is hereby authorized to award the Project Notes the lowest interest or rate or rates not in excess of the rate per annum offered in the proposals without reference to premiums; provided, that as among proposals specifying the same lowest interest rate, awards shall be made on the basis of the highest premium offered. The Regional Administrator or his designee shall promptly notify the Local Issuing Agency and each successful bidder, by telephone, or the principal amount of Project Notes so awarded to such bidder, such notification to be confirmed later in writing.

Section 4. The Local Issuing Agency shall issue Project Notes in consecutive series in book-entry form subject to the provisions of Section 5. Each series of Project Notes that is issued shall consist of one or more Master Project Notes representing all or substantially all of a particular issue. Master Notes shall be in substantially the form of HUD-9010, which is incorporated herein by reference. The Master Project Notes shall be issued in registered form and shall be held in custody by the registered holder until maturity. Master Notes are divisible into Project Notes, which are available in a minimum denomination of $1,000 or in multiples thereof. Each series of Project Notes shall be dated not later than the date on which they are delivered to the original purchaser by an electronic book-entry securities transfer system, shall mature within a term not to exceed 24 months from such date, shall bear interest at the rate(s) per annum fixed in the proposal(s) accepted for the purchase of such Notes, and shall be secured by a "Requisition Agreement" in substantially the form of HUD-9003, which is to be entered into between the Local Issuing Agency and the Government and which is incorporated herein by reference.

Section 5. The Local Issuing Agency may issue Project Notes in physical form only if requested to do so at the time of original issue. Such Notes shall be in substantially the same form as HUD-9010 but shall be payable to bearer unless their term exceeds one year in which case they shall be in substantially the same form as HUD-9010 but shall be issued in registered form. Project Notes in physical form shall be issued through a Central Registrar of the Project Notes. The Central Registrar, on behalf of the Local Issuing Agency, shall perform such other duties in connection with Project Notes in book-entry and physical form as are necessary and appropriate, which duties are enumerated in the contract by and between the Central Registrar and HUD.

Section 6. For the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on each series of Project Notes, the Local Issuing Agency hereby expressly and irrevocably promises to effect payment to the Fiscal Agent of any sums which may be received from the Government pursuant to the Requisition Agreement relating to such series of Project Notes, and the Requisition Agreement when executed by the Government is hereby declared to be and is hereby assigned by the Local Issuing Agency for the benefit of the holders from time to time of such series of Project Notes. All annual contributions and residual receipts authorized by the Contract to be applied to the payment of Project Loan Notes, Permanent, and Project Notes issued in connection with the projects are hereby pledged to secure the payment of the principal and interest to maturity on each series of Project Notes, and the Local Issuing Agency hereby authorizes and directs the Government to make such annual contributions available for such payment promptly. The pledge and the lien created thereby shall cease and terminate as to any series of Project Notes when monies are deposited with the Fiscal Agent or Central Registrar not later than maturity date of such Notes.

Section 7. The bells of Christmas

Yes, Virginia, the spirit of Christmas is alive and well today.

Just look around — the Goodfellows prepare their baskets of joy; youngsters continue to send their letters to the North Pole; persons of all ages send cards of greetings to one another; trees of every size and shape imaginable are lit and decorated; old acquaintances and long lost friends gather to socialize, and the hustle and bustle of last-minute shopping continues unabated.

It is a time of sharing and reflection. In the midst of material splendor we are reminded of starving children, the hopelessly unemployed, the sick and the dying, the oppressed and the homeless. We must come to terms with the fact that strife and tension exist throughout the world, not only in far away lands but in our country and even in our own families.

We are not a perfect society; far from it. At Christmas time, however, more than at any other time of year, we seem to be most aware of our collective and individual flaws and willing to take positive steps towards reconciling our differences. Unfortunately, the spirit of Christmas too often becomes a faint memory in January and that is the tragedy of Christmas.

Sharing, peace and good will must begin with each and every one of us. These qualities are not holiday ornaments to be wrapped neatly and put away until next December.

Through our commitment and involvement we can make a difference in spreading the joy of Christmas in February, in July, in September ... During this holiday season we must reflect both on the positive and the negative and concentrate on the ways we, as individuals, can build on the truly good things in life.

We feel helpless in solving the disputes of the Middle East. But are we helpless in rectifying the petty bickering in our families, our neighborhoods and our communities? Hardly.

Longfellow wrote: "I heard the bells on Christmas day, their old familiar carols play. And wild and sweet the words repeat, of peace on earth, good will to men."

We hope and pray those bells of Christmas will chime throughout 1985.

Anniversary

It wasn't a typical day.

Last week, the Adcraft Club of Detroit celebrated the 79th anniversary of its founding with 2,000 people crowding into the Fairlane Club in Dearborn to hear Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca explain what needs to be done about the federal deficit.

"Lunch with Lee" was entertaining and memorable, but the situation triggered within me a wave of nostalgia — I guess it was the combination of the date, and the occasion.

The Adcraft Club of Detroit, which is the largest advertising club in the world, was established Dec. 7, 1905. Having been a member for 10 years, one achieves the status accorded an "old timer." At the meeting last Friday, several new "old timers" were honored with an introduction to the membership, as is the custom at the anniversary meeting. Adcraft traditions also include the two-star old timer designation after 20 years, three-star after 30 years and so on. — Member names in the annual directory are accompanied by one asterisk for every ten years of membership. No big deal to those who are not members or have no reason to care, but it is something that touches you if you are involved.

At the meeting last week, Hal Hastings, a six-star member now 98 years old was in attendance. . . "still belting down the martinis and smoking his cigars," according to the speaker. Some formula for longevity.

I was introduced to Adcraft by my father, Wesley. He was a regular at all the Adcraft meetings during his career years as co-publisher of Associated Newspapers. Following his retirement, he continued to frequent meetings of Adcraft — which were at the Detroit Statler Hilton on Grand Circus Park back then.

During my seven years tenure at the Detroit Free Press, I continued to attend the meetings infrequently. It was not easy to plan my Fridays in such a way as to be downtown at noon. It was always a coming home experience, however, when I was able to attend and to see my Dad there.

He often sat at the old timers' table and I would usually lunch with them. Reminiscence of days gone by were often the topic of conversation at lunch. My father was 40 years my senior and we were frequent companions. I was accustomed, therefore, to the company of his friends and associates who were also much my senior.

As a result I developed an appreciation of the tremendous resource these old timers have to offer. The small business associated has a "SCORE" program that utilizes old timers, retired business executives, who help foster younger business owners and operators.

Perhaps the advertising industry would do well to develop a framework in which these old pros could pass on their wisdom to younger practioners of the trade.

Last week marked 19 years in Adcraft for me. The ceremonial ribbon with Adcraft medallion was presented to David J. Willett Dec. 6, 1974. My Dad was unable to attend that meeting that was so special to me. He was battling terminal cancer in Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

I stopped by on my way home from work to see him that day. I proudly showed him my ribboned symbol of longevity. He smiled, I remember, with great pride in my achievement. "You know," he said, "this makes 20 years for me."

Gas leaks in Romulus

To the Editor:

On Monday, Dec. 3, 1984, I called and spoke with a person who addressed herself as the secretary for the city council. My call was to obtain information on the procedures to be placed on the agenda for the next council meeting.

I was told, "If I appeared at the Romulus City Hall on Thursday, Dec. 6, before 5 p.m., I would be placed on the agenda."

I arrived at the Romulus City Hall on Thursday, Dec. 6, 1984 at 3:45 p.m. I filled out the application for placement on the agenda as requested and returned it to nameless individual, who took it to another nameless individual, who came to the window of the city clerk's office with a copy of a letter dated sometime in 1982, from an attorney in regards to the Wellesley Townhouses. These two nameless individuals proceeded to hold a discussion, which did not include me, as to whether or not my application was justifiable to be placed on the agenda.

At 4:37 p.m., I had spoken with five or six different individuals, and still my application was not accepted. Even the City Clerk does not know that by denying my application, she has denied me my due process of law, that my complaint against the building and safety engineering of Romulus is against my constitutional rights, as well as my rights as a citizen of Romulus.

These five or six paid city employees, are not knowledgeable of their own city codes, or their duties as a city employee.

I'm sure that all the citizens of Romulus should be aware that Building and Safety Engineering Department is not carrying out its obligations, which are in the Charter, to check all building permits when the job, whatever it may be is completed.

The Birch Run Cooperatives had gas pipe lines and gas meters installed during the months of July, August and September, 1984. The tenants of Birch Run have had to call MichCon on numerous occasions because of gas leaks.

The latest episode occurred on Friday, Nov. 30. The tenants had been suffering from nausea headaches, dizzy spells and had broken out into a rash; they went to the hospital and were told it could be from gas fumes. This couple called MichCon who immediately came out. MichCon told the tenants the pipe lines were installed wrong, were rusted, and were not the correct pipes for gas lines.

We the tenants of Birch Run, feel the city officials would want to help stop a possible disaster, and would want to know how city employees treat the citizens of Romulus, who help pay their salaries.

I'm sure most citizens of Romulus know the location of Birch Run. We are located off Wayne and Wick Roads, across the street from the Golf Course. If just one of these cooperatives should catch fire or explode, we could not stop the spreading of the fires nor save the lives which would be lost.

I must also state that Barry Baumann took the time to listen to my complaint, but as yet, no action has been taken.

We the members of Birch Run are well aware that Birch Run is located on private property, but the contractors had to obtain a permit to install the gas lines and meters. The city must check the work that was done to see if it

Community reunion

To the Editor:
On Saturday, Dec. 1, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, there was something for everybody; fellowship, food and plenty of fun.
There were over 300 in attendance, mostly Inkster residents, but also Detroit, Romulus, Wayne and even out-of-staters supported the Inkster Democratic Club annual Christmas party, which is the main fund-raiser for the club.
The affair created new interest in the club by Inksterites and outsiders alike. Inquiries were made and even a few applied for membership.

If I had to use one word to sum up the evening, it would be "reunion"; a family reunion, old friends uniting, new friends acquainting and everyone enjoying the extra special treat — a real sense of community.

Goodfellows' plea

To the Editor:
Each year during the holiday season, a group of volunteers consisting of men, women, teenagers, children and local civic organizations undertake a project to insure the Goodfellow motto, "No Kiddie Without A Christmas".
Goodfellows mean selling newspapers, dressing dolls, investigating families in need, purchasing toys and food, packing food and toys for each individual family and the delivery of same on Christmas Eve Day.
The Goodfellows work all year long in order to provide a Christmas for the 300 plus families in our community. Although the Goodfellows have fund-raisers throughout the year, contribution and community participation is needed for us to carry out our program.
Please help us to help those families who need our assistance to get them through the holidays.
Please send your check to Westland Goodfellows, Inc., 36601

Joyous occasion

To the Editor:
On Friday, Dec. 7, the City of Romulus held its annual Tree Lighting Ceremony. Despite the cold weather, the crowd was huge and joyous.
I would like to recognize the following people and organizations who helped in making this event a big success: The

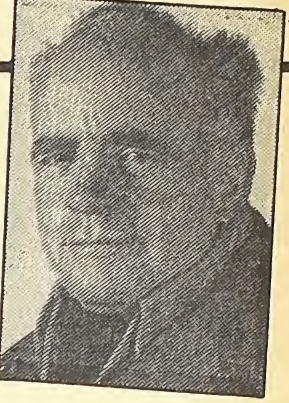

Romulus Chamber of Commerce and the Romulus Central Business District Association for their generous donations for the bags of goodies, McDonald's (of Romulus) for the donation of orange drink and coffee, Dan Bales, Mayor McAnally, Linda Choate, John Lewkowicz, Bill Wadsworth, Barry Baumann, Pete Bergeron, Jim Poet, Debbie Bilbrey, Bill Simonds, Joyce Palmer, the Romulus High School Band, the Brownies and Cub Scouts who led the caroling, the Romulus Recreation members, the senior adults who helped in serving, our special guest, Tanya Neilson, and last but not least, my fine staff from the Recreation Department.

Without all of the help and support from the above list, this event would not have been the success that it was.

Christmas is for everyone

The greater part of all the world
Is hurting from disease.
Tens of millions starving
While some sit back at ease.
It isn't toys and Christmas trees
Most children have to share.
There isn't any food at all
Just sickness and despair.
Christmas is for everyone
But, just a few can reap.
For many that are happy,
There are ten times those who weep.

And when we get our greeting cards
And gifts from those who care,
Remember deep within our hearts,
Those starving are still there.

I was surprised, and yet I felt the bond even more strongly of this shared old-timer status. I sat with my Dad for a long time that night. I wanted to stay close to him. He saw me tiring after a while and urged me to go.
Wesley F. Willett never made it into the next Adcraft directory as a two-star old timer. I never saw him alive again. He died the next day, Dec. 7, 1974, the actual anniversary of the Adcraft Club he loved so much.
My Dad was a battler, much like Lee Iacocca. Both fiercely independant and not anxious to buckle under to the illogical will of others.
I learned a lot from my father, as did many others. Through him I discovered a true appreciation of the elder statesmen and their mental warehouses of knowledge. Iacocca is certainly not yet ready to retire but is a veteran of many "campaigns" in the wars of the business world. His ideas seem logical, possible and deserve some attention from those in power charged with charting our survival course as a nation. I hope they listen.

Next year, at the age of 42, I will share my Father's distinction as a two-star old timer. Oh, that I had the wisdom of 72 that he attained when he earned that same distinction.
To seek wisdom is a worthy goal. . . not a destination but a journey. Adcraft, Iacocca and recollections.
It was not a typical day.
See you next week.

Lung Association kicks off anti-drug campaign

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM) has introduced a new national education program intended to influence pre-teens not to use marijuana.

"Marijuana: A Second Look" delivers an upbeat, easy to understand message for fourth, fifth and sixth graders about the damage "pot" smoking can do to their lungs — and to their self-image.

The First Lady, Nancy Reagan, is the Honorary Chairman of the program, which was developed by the American Lung Association (ALA) — the Christmas Seal People in cooperation with the American Council for Drug Education (ACDE). The cast of TV's FAME is serving as role model spokespeople.

wide campaign has been launched to reach young people, their parents, their teachers and youth leaders in 1984.

because their lungs are still developing and are especially vulnerable to the consequences of smoking marijuana.

Marijuana smoking interferes with normal lung function, irritating the air passages of the lungs.

Chronic (regular, long-term) marijuana smoking inflames the air passages and may lead to pharyngitis, sinusitis, bronchitis, and emphysema.

Hashish is a stronger form of marijuana. In young chronic hashish users, extensive abnormalities occur in the cell tissues lining the larger air passages in the lungs. These abnormalities are through to be pre-cancerous. This kind of damage is usually seen only in older, heavy tobacco smokers — those who have been smoking for 10 to 20 years.

The typical pattern of inhaling and holding the breath in smoking marijuana maximizes the exposure of the sensitive tissue of the lungs to toxic substances. So does smoking a marijuana cigarette down to the butt end or "roach", which delivers a high concentration of respiratory toxins.

A common argument is: "But marijuana smokers don't smoke as much as cigarette smokers." However, daily marijuana smokers often smoke more than one or two "joints" per day.

Marijuana does not contain nicotine, but it contains more tars, more known carcinogens (cancer-causing substances) and more respiratory irritants than tobacco smoke. While as yet there is no conclusive evidence that the smoke from marijuana cigarettes causes chronic, debilitating lung diseases in humans, it must be remembered that, in the case of tobacco smoking, these diseases appear only after 10 to 20 years. Most marijuana smokers in the United States have not yet smoked that long.

In the "Journal of the American Medical Association" 246: 1823-7, 1981, the American Medical Association Council on Scientific Affairs stated: "The effects of drugs on the young, who are in the early stages of both physiological and psychological development, can be more pronounced and persistent than effects on older persons ... Because smoking several marijuana 'joints' daily is not unusual among young people, their risks of incurring pulmonary prob-children enter the adolescent years that adult influence diminishes and peer influence becomes stronger.

"Marijuana: A Second Look" is directed to children at a time when adults still have considerable effect. It is intended to help children learn ways of coping with the peer pressure that will be exerted when they are older.

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan will help adults provide children with the facts about smoking marijuana. It hopes to educate young people before they are faced with a decision that vir-

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

SUDDEN MUSCLE SPASMS

You reach quickly for something and shooting, searing pain rips through your back. Moments later, the agonizing spasms subside. "What went wrong?" you ask your chiropractor while undergoing a thorough diagnostic examination.

The fault is often a structural abnormality of your spinal column and related muscles. Subluxation (misalignment) of one or more spinal vertebrae can cause a muscular imbalance. Weaker muscles struggle against stronger ones. This tug of war eventually erupts into sudden spasms.

Tight muscles may flatten or rupture spinal discs. Nerve supply and circulation are reduced. Pain recurs again and again. Your chiropractor restores spinal integrity with gentle manipulative adjustments. The correction of spinal alignment helps dispose of the pain and shock of muscle spasms. Romulus captures Glenn invitational title

A major victory

Receiving 100 percent effort "from the entire line-up," Romulus High's wrestling team captured the Westland John Glenn Invitational Championship over the weekend. The victory was a "major triumph," according to Coach Wayne Schimming who noted that it "was the biggest victory in my eight years as coach." Members of the team include: John Montroy (front row, from left), Dave Furtaw, John Burcroff, Matt Scully, Mike Demeter and Joe Mabelitini; second row are Coach Schimming, Bob Crain, Scott McNett, Vince Morris, Tracy Cline and Coach Avern Logan.

Wayne's Fowler is 'MVP'

Romulus has emerged from the shadows of perennial wrestling powers Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial to take its place among the top high school teams in the area.

Coach Wayne Schimming's Eagles captured the prestigious Westland John Glenn Invitational Wrestling Championship over the weekend, their first such title since the inception of the tournament in 1965.

"Winning the prestigious John Glenn tournament," Schimming said afterward, "is a major accomplishment, and I considered it as one of the greatest achievements of our wrestling team in the eight years I have been coaching here."

"And we won this tournament because each and every one of our wrestlers contributed 100 percent," Schimming added.

Romulus garnered 165 team points for the title. The Eagles beat out a field of 16 teams which included runner-up Westland John Glenn (139), New Boston Huron (129), Plymouth Salem (113) and Farmington (111). Wayne was fifth with 100. But the Zebras also had the tournament's Most Valuable Wrestler in 132-pound Ed Fowler who won all four of his matches via falls.

Romulus had one first place in heavyweight Tracy Cline who decisively Lyle Burrell of Mt. Clemens 4-1 in the finals. Cline, a senior, also posted victories over Ted McKnight of Canton (fall in 39 seconds); Bill DeJohn of Edsel Ford (4:58) and Kurt Kazyak of Birmingham Brother Rice, 5-2.

The Romulus heavyweight has an untarnished 13-0 record for the season.

The Eagles also boasted one second place in 138-pounder, John Montroy, who lost the title to Wayne's Tim Mitchell, 8-4, while they also had three third place finishers in Hung Nguyen (98), Vince Morris (167) and Bob Crain (185). They were fourth with John Burcroff (112) and fifth with Jim Schlener (126).

Glenn's Tom Buckalew was also pleased with his team's second place finish.

"We took three first places and I felt we did an excellent over-all job in this tournament," Buckalew added. "We do have a lot of improving to do, however."

The Westlanders struck gold with Rob Okurski (112), Dan Gibson (119) and Scott Lucas (155).

Tigers improve, but not enough to stop Monroe

Although they showed a marked improvement over their devastating start against Livonia Stevenson a week ago, Belleville continued its erratic play and dropped its second consecutive basketball decision 68-43 to Monroe.

Coach Leon Birdyshaw's Tigers fell behind 18-11 in the first period and played "catch-up" the rest of the evening.

"We were inconsistent again," Birdyshaw noted. "We've failed to put four solid quarters together, and, although we are getting aggressive on the boards, you got to score to win ball games."

Monroe took a 14-0 lead in this Wolverine "A" Conference opener for both schools before Wesley Currie broke the ice and sank a free throw, then teamed with Lewis Willis to bring the Tigers back to within seven of catching the Trojans at the end of the quarter (18-11).

Both teams were hit by a scoring drought in the second frame as Belleville only collected a meager six points as compared to Monroe's 10. Monroe, however, maintained a 28-17 edge at the midway point.

The Trojans increased the margin and grabbed a commanding lead (52-29) after three periods as Joe Montague and Gregh Horchner provided the scoring power. Montague and Horchner each finished with 16 points, their team's high.

Currie connected on seven field goals and made four of eight offerings at the free throw line for a game high 18 points. Willis chipped in 11, the only other player to reach double figures.

Huron wastes Roland's 31 pts.

New Boston Huron's Randy Roland is proving he's unstoppable on the basketball court.

Unfortunately, the Chiefs seemingly can't stop their opponents.

Roland, who tossed in a career high 36 points in the season opener last week against Romulus, came back to drill in 19 as the Chiefs faltered 70-50 against Milan and the 6-2 center connected for 31 points Friday night in an 86-66 setback at the hands of conference rival, Monroe Catholic Central.

"Roland has been outstanding for us this early stage of the season," said Huron coach Terry Sume-nick, "but we need to play consistent on defense and get more balance scoring from the rest of the line-up in order to win."

Huron clashes with Monroe Jefferson Friday night. The game will bring the curtains down on the 1984 phase of the campaign. The Chiefs also were in a league battle Tuesday night against the Islanders of Grosse Ile.

Last Tuesday the Chiefs couldn't shake their doldrums as Milan leaped to a 30-18 first half lead and never looked back. Roland kept the losers honest with his 19 points, but Huron trailed by as much as 25 points at one span during the lopsided contest.

Roland sank 20 of his 31 points in the first half against Monroe CC to keep the Chiefs within striking distance most of the first two periods, but a 24-13 Monroe edge in the third period broke it open.

Can Vikings beat Buena Vista?

Inkster towers over Warren Towers

Would Inkster Coach George Thompson Jr. exchange his first two victories for a victory over top-ranked Saginaw Buena Vista?

"I sure would," replied the veteran Inkster mentor. "Buena Vista finished runner-up in the state last year and they have everyone except one of their players back. They are ranked

No. 1 in the state in Class B.

"Would I take 2-for-1... yes, I'd do that."

Inkster launched the season last Tuesday with an easy 75-54 victory over Taylor Truman. The Vikings turned back Warren Woods Towers, 77-63, Friday night and were to play at Buena Vista last night, then comes the Christmas Holidays.

"This team has shown it can do a lot of things out there," Thompson said, pointing to the basketball court. "But Tuesday night will tell us what kind of over-all team we will be."

It took Inkster two quarters to warm up against Truman. With the aid of Sherard Lloyd, a 6-6 senior, the Vikings outscored their non-conference rivals, 21-9, in the third period to take a commanding 54-39 lead going into the fourth period. Lloyd sank 13 of his team high 21 points in the first half.

Truman had an early 21-18 edge after the initial eight minutes but the Vikings outscored their rivals 15-9 the next period to go up 33-30 at intermission. Nine consecutive Truman turnovers in that crucial second period cost them the lead.

And 28 Inkster turnovers kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the midway in the third period.

"It was a typical first game with all of the jitters," Thompson noted, "but it also showed that we can switch from man-to-man to full court press without any problems."

William Springer and Anthony White also provided the Vikings essential scoring power. Springer finished with 11 and White added 10.

Inkster enjoyed an 18-point cushion midway in the fourth period when Thompson emptied his bench and the Warren cagers managed to make the game closer than it actually was.

White came alive with 22 points and Lloyd had 15 while Springer contributed 16 for the Vikings while Tom Dennison racked up a game high 28 points — most of those "bombs" — for the losers.

Romulus bounces back from first loss

Mills gets 31 in victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer

Romulus bounced back from a "bubble-bursting" 66-56 loss to highly-touted and state-ranked Warren DeLaSalle, to edge Ann Arbor Pioneer 67-63 for its second victory in three starts on the basketball court.

Coach Al Wilkerson's Eagles opened the home phase of the campaign last night hosting Allen Park Cabrini before the holiday vacations. However, Romulus won't be resting on its laurels during the Christmas break. They're scheduled to compete in the Willow Run Christmas Tournament on Dec. 27.

"It's a tough tournament," Wilkerson said, "and we have drawn Jackson in the first round at 6 p.m. and Willow Run will play Ann Arbor Huron at 7:30 p.m."

The championship will be decided on Dec. 28.

Wilkerson would like to get another crack at Warren DeLaSalle "later on in the season."

"We lost our composure against them in the first half and then came back and outscored them the second half. It was too late, however," he offered.

Warren turned a 13-8 first period advantage into a 27-13 halftime margin thanks to Matt Anderson (6-6) and Andy McGuire (6-7) and some "very impatient Romulus cagers."

"We didn't concentrate and were very impatient with our shots," Wilkerson noted. "It was a horrendous first half. And we didn't get the points from those who came off the bench."

Romulus' "dynamic duo," Terry Mills and Stevie Glenn, finally got the Eagles rolling as Mills pumped in 20 of his 22 points in the second half, cutting Warren's margin to four points at one span. But Romulus never managed to get the lead away from its hosts. Mills and Glenn had all but six of their team's second half points.

Anderson finished with a game high 24 and McGuire added 20 for the winners who are ranked in the top 10 in Class A state polls.

Mills connected on his first four shots against Pioneer, setting the pace. He wound up with 10 field goals and 11 of 13 at the foul line for a game high 31 points.

Glenn, who accounted for 20 points in this one, had seven steals to bring his total to 16 in three games.

Up by as much as 15 points with 3:45 left in the game, Wilkerson had an opportunity to use his bench, almost to his dismay as Pioneer came within four points of erasing the deficit.

"It was a typical early season game for us," Wilkerson added. "We have some young players who make young mistakes that cost us some points."

Mills complimented his 31 points with 12 rebounds and five assists.

Rockets earn split in swim opener

After launching its 1984-85 swimming season with an impressive 89-82 victory over neighboring Livonia Churchill, Westland John Glenn tankers dropped an equally close out-of-conference decision to Farmington 90-82.

"Both meets were close," said Rocket skipper Larry McConnell. "I look for the season to be just that way. We have some excellent talent on this team but lack the necessary depth."

McConnell said his team is anchored by captains Larry Norman, Craig Fitch and John McGrath, who are seniors. Junior Danny Kozar took first place finishes in both the 200 IM (2:12.0) and the 100 yard breaststroke (1:05.6).

Scott Wilshire, also a junior, was first in the 500-freestyle (5:38.0), while junior Tim DuBois is undefeated in diving this season.

"Coach Winefrey is pleased thus far with sophomores John Jensen and Allan White who already have placed first. Allan White is a backstroke (1:03.0).

Jensen had two firsts in the 200 freestyle (1:52.9) and also the 100 fly (58.6). He is also a member of the undefeated 400 freestyle relay of Andy Pavlich, Scott Wilshire and Craig Fitch.

McConnell welcomes these boys whose brothers Tim White and Michael Jensen were outstanding swimmers for Glenn for the last three years.

First place finishers for Churchill were Vic Valenti 50 freestyle (23.4), Eric Baird 100 freestyle (52.5) and Eric Hutchinson in the 100 breaststroke (1:05.0). Farmington first groups in this summer's Parks and Recreation Department program.

In the Boys 9-12 age group, Tracey Ewald finished fifth out of 39 cities entered with a three-round total of 82 points. He missed qualifying for the next level of competition by only four points. The top four finishers move on to the Area Finals.

In the Boys 13-15 age group, M.J. Ewald finished in sixth place with a

In the Girls 13-15 age group, Canton's Jo Anna Wiklund finished in 12th place with her total of 69 points. There were 30 cities entered in her age group.

Yankasky-Janis exchange vows

A white overlay and skirt, donated by the bride's grandmother in memory of her husband, C. Emil Anderson, decorated the altar in the Wayne Masonic Temple for the late summer nuptial of Deanne Jo Yankasky of Garden City and Vincent Janis, also of Garden City.

The bride's grandfather's Eastern Star Bible was placed on the altar and surrounded by roses for the ceremony, which was officiated by the pastor of the Palmer Road Baptist Church of Westland.

The bride is the daughter of Gracia Yankasky of Garden City. The groom is the son of Helen Janis, also of Garden City.

Music for the ceremony was by pianist Elizabeth Wright of Garden City, with Michael Wright singing "Believe in Me" and joining his wife Jane for a duet of "Only You".

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Donald Yankasky of Garden City, made her gown for the ceremony in a Priscilla of Boston style. The bodice featured a baby high collar with blue print chiffon over white. Pelum accented the waistline and the white on white full-length skirt.

She wore an old English riding-style hat with an attached veil and train, and carried a cascade bouquet of silk royal blue and white roses with strawberry accents.

She asked Marian McDonald of Westland to serve as her maid of honor. She wore a baby blue full-length gown with chiffon bodice. She carried a colonial-style basket filled with dark blue and red silk roses with ribbon streamers.

Serving as bridesmaids were Denise Sizemore of Garden City, sister of the bride, Debbie Blake of Dearborn and Vivian Janis of Garden City, sister of the groom.

Ringbearers for the ceremony were Robert and Peter Jacqueman of Mt. Clemens, twin cousins of the bride. The flowergirl was Kristen Anderson of Fenton, cousin of the bride.

The floral arrangements for the attendants were made by the bride, while the headpieces were the creation of the groom.

The groom asked Bob Patterson of Westland to perform the duties of best man. Groomsmen were Rick Davis of Westland, Victor Janis of Garden City, brother of the groom, and John Toth of Westland.

Mrs. Yankasky chose a full-length gown of light green chiffon and wore a corsage of a baby blue Tiger lily with a green bow for her daughter's wedding.

The bride's grandmother selected a street-length dress in pastel colors, accented by a corsage of mauve and light purple tulips.

Mrs. Janis donned a full-length mauve gown and wore a corsage of purple tiger lilies with a mauve bow.

A reception for the newlyweds and their guests was held at the AmVets Hall in Westland prior to the couple leaving for a honeymoon trip to Frankenmuth, Michigan.

The new Mrs. Janis is a 1974 graduate of Garden City West High School and a 1982 graduate of Schoolcraft Community College, where she earned her associate's degree in child care development.

Her husband, also a member of West High's Class of 1974, although the couple met at Schoolcraft Community College, holds an associate of applied science degree in electrical/electronic technology.

He is employed at United Parcel Service in Livonia.

The newlyweds currently are making their home in Westland.

what's that sound? . . . by steve o'leary

Last week, I wrote about two great examples of rock and roll Christmas collections. This week, I'm going to review a few more of the greatest Christmas LP's never made (except, of course, by me on tape).

There are lots of categories to take into consideration here, so to start things off, we'll dive headfirst into my personal favorite: Weird.

Martin Mull, a jack-of-all-entertainment trades, has a double-sized winner in "Santafly" (a take-off on guess what?) and "Santa Doesn't Cop Out On Dope." There's Marty, telling the kids to "come closer. No, closer. Cloooser!" before letting loose with an innocent, catchy little ditty that goes "On Donder/On Blitzin/But never on smack/Cause Santa doesn't cop out on dope . . ."

Another holiday treat awaits those who have access to "The Chipmunk Song" as done by Canned Heat (remember them?) with the Chipmunks, who are constantly referred to as "mice" throughout, much to Alvin's chagrin. Along those same lines is "Ringo Bells," a Beatles/X-mas crossover novelty record by some people who called themselves Three Blonde Mice.

And, speaking of mice, chipmunks and other vermin, keep an eye out for Tiny Tim's Yuletide treats, which include versions of "White Christmas" and "Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer." Both are guaranteed to empty your house of unwanted guests and bring on an urgent need to bang your head against the wall.

Lonely? Put on Mae West singing "Santa, Come Up and See Me." One of the funniest X-mas tunes released in the recent past is the version of "12 Days of Christmas" by Bob and Doug McKenzie, otherwise known as the "Canadian guys" that used to highlight SCTV.

The legendary Dickies do about 23 verses of "Silent Night" in just over two minutes, while Spinal Tap (yep the guys from the hilarious film, some of whom are now regulars on Saturday Night Live) turns Heavy Metal horror with the tongue-in-cheek "Christmas With the Devil."

But, the best of the weird, the top spot belongs to Root Boy Slim and the Sex Change Band, with "Christmas At K-Mart," a classic if ever there was one. Lines like "Santa got a dose in San Jose" and "The 'mood ring' counter is all aglow" will assure the immortality of this one.

On a more "normal" note, Bruce Springsteen's infamous version of "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town" is much sought after, but it has never been officially released as a single. Unless you have access to promotional copies or are willing to spend upwards of $25 at a record convention, you can get the song on a Columbia LP titled "In Harmony II," which is still in print.

Joan Jett released a rousing version of "Little Drummer Boy" a few years back, but the rendition of that number to own is the duet by Bing Crosby and David Bowie, recorded for what was to be Bing's last Christmas special.

There is an American 45, but fans may want to dig up the import 12" which contains some humorous dialogue between the pair.

Some years ago, Elton John released a song he'd written called "Step Into Christmas" which still stands up strong today. The same can be said for Greg Lake (of Emerson, Lake & Palmer), who penned a beautiful song entitled "I Believe In Father Christmas."

Fans of the great but extinct English band The Only Ones would do well to visit their local import shop for a copy of "Silent Night," which is perfectly handled by vocalist Peter Perret (The flip side is "Baby's Got a Gun," the title track of their best album that didn't appear on the LP).

John Lennon's "Happy X-Mas (War Is Over)" has become a classic, which is more than you can say about Soupy Sales "Santa Claus Is Surfin' To Town" or Marc Bolan & T-Rex's "Christmas Bop."

This year's entries include mostly imports; chart-toppers Wham! have put out "Last Christmas"; rock icon Gary Glitter has released "Another Rock 'n' Roll Christmas"; "Thanks For Christmas," which was actually released last year, is a wonderful song by XTC under the guise of "The Three Wise Men." Wacky Captain Sensible has a nice package out in "One Christmas Catalogue," which comes complete with a beard.

On the home front, there are rockers by Billy Squire and George Thourogood standing next to Elmo and Patsy's "Grandma Got Run Over By a Reindeer."

A weird rockin' Christmas

Christmas albums are still out there to, and of particular interest is Phil Spector's Christmas Album, featuring the Ronettes, among others. Classic stuff. For the MOR taste, there's Emmylou Harris's soothing "Light of the Stable" LP, and has been joined this year by Kenny Rogers and Dolly Parton's "Once Upon a Christmas."

But back to rock. There are the rarities, like the Beatles Christmas Album, which is a compilation of messages the band sent to their fans via fan clubs from the years 1963-1969. Originals go for over $100, but bootlegs are available and common.

Last year, RCA (bless their hearts) recorded Hall and Oates doing "Jingle Bell Rock" as a video. It was only released on record as a promotional-only 12" picture disc, with Daryl featured on one side and John the other.

The winner for "Worse X-Mas Song" goes hands-down to Karla DeVito (you've seen her on television in the "This Bud's for you," Pirates of Penzance style). The simple fact that "Santa Claus Is Coming To My House" was co-written with hubby Robbie Benson is enough delegate it to the bottom of the pile. Robbie Benson? He's about as rock 'n' roll as Wally George or Reagan himself.

The BEST rock 'n' yule tune of the past couple of years is one that should have, could have and, with some promotion behind it next year, will be, a hit, is the irresistible "Christmas Is Coming" by Canada's Payola$, who could be the Great White North's biggest exports since 222's. It's still available in America on A & M records, so if you don't see it, have your local store order it. It'll make a great Christmas present to yourself.

Dreaming of a White House Christmas...

By Ink Mendelsohn
Smithsonian News Service

Santa must have had a hot time finding a chimney to squeeze down on that first White House Christmas Eve in 1800. Every one of the mansion's fireplaces had been burning brightly — day and night — ever since President John Adams, his wife Abigail and their 4-year-old granddaughter Susanna had moved into the unfinished and bone-chillingly cold "President's House" a month before. The indomitable Abigail burned 20 cords of wood that season in a futile attempt to warm up the cavernous state rooms for two holiday parties. Congressmen and their wives invited to the Adams' Christmas reception fled early in search of more comfortable quarters. A party for Susanna was a great success, however, because the young guests kept warm playing games like Blind Man's Bluff. In 1805, at a White House Christmas party honoring Thomas Jefferson's six grandchildren, the guests kept warm by drinking hot toddys and dancing to a hot fiddle — played by the president. Presidents — and vice presidents — tired to forget the cares of state during the holiday season. Vice President Martin Van Buren, a guest at the 1835 Christmas frolic given by President Andrew Jackson's children for the capital's young set, had to pay a forfeit in a game of Spin the Plate. Standing on one leg, he chanted, "If you don't kiss me I'll run like a turkey." No child — or young lady — volunteered the kiss, and the future president of the United States delighted the children by doing a "turkey trot" across the room.

Refreshments at the Jackson Christmas party were served in the State Dining Room. Master Chef Vivart, hailed as the "Napoleon of Cooks," had concocted candies, cakes and confections of every conceivable design. In the center of the table was a pyramid of "snowballs" interspersed with colored icicles and topped by a golden game cock. Around the table were frozen marvels shaped like oranges, apples, pears, peaches, grapes, corn, carrots, beans and squash; a tiny frosted pine tree with toy animals beneath, and a miniature reindeer standing in a long, shallow goldfish-filled "pool." After supper, the company retired to the East Room, and the children proceeded to pelt each other with the soft cotton snowballs from the centerpiece, distributed to them for just that purpose. Only the president and some older guests like Dolly Madison were spared. At evening's end, the band struck up a lively tune, and the children marched around the room, bowing to the president and blowing him kisses as they exited. Dolly was reminded, she told Jackson, of the fairy procession in "Midsummer-Night's Dream." A widower, the president had no natural children, but was "Uncle Jackson" to four grandnieces and grandnephews, who lived in the White House, and grandfather to the two children of his adopted son. On Christmas in 1835, the children hung their stockings with care in Uncle's bedroom — including one for the president who had "waited nearly 70 years to hang up a Christmas stocking." On the great morning, he found a cob pipe and warm slippers beneath his tocking. The children found a saddle and bridle, a hobby horse and drum, dolls, tea sets and rattles beneath stockings groaning with fruit, candy, cakes and nuts. Hans, the German White House gardener, couldn't understand why the Christmas bounty wasn't hung on a beautiful green tree instead of stuffed in "ugly stockings." The Christmas tree didn't really take root as a White House tradition until 1889, when President Benjamin Harrison and his family first decorated a yuletide tree in the mansion. The president himself helped to adorn it with silvery ornaments and real candles. At the turn of the century, the White House Christmas tree tradition was nearly cut short when Theodore Roosevelt banned it from the executive mansion in the name of forest conservation. His son Archie, however, "surprised" the family on Christmas morning with a tree he had hidden in a closet. After Gifford Pinchot, the foremost conservationist in the country, assured T. R. that judicious cutting of Christmas trees would not be harmful to the forests, the White House Christmas tree emerged permanently from the closet. One year, Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, who loved Christmas in the White House with their children and grandchildren, had a tree with real candles in the family quarters. "We had buckets of water and long-handled sponges at the ready," Eleanor Seagraves, the Roosevelt's first grandchild, recalled. "Happily, we didn't have to use them." In recent years, first ladies have chosen special themes for the White House Christmas tree decorated for the public. Jacqueline Kennedy's "Nutcracker" tree, Lady Bird Johnson's "Early American" tree, Pat Nixon's "American Flower" tree and the "Americana" trees with handmade ornaments of Betty Ford, Rosalynn Carter and Nancy Reagan have brought new color and warmth to the White House during the holiday season. But no first lady yet has topped Mamie Eisenhower in the Christmas tree department. One year, Mamie decked the White House halls with boughs of holly and 26 Christmas trees.

"... the White House Christmas tradition was nearly cut short when Theodore Roosevelt banned it from the executive mansion."

Put safety 'first' this holiday season

Each year at holiday time, people are killed or injured and property is destroyed through the misuse of holiday decorations. Because holiday products are used only once a year, consumers have a tendency to overlook potential hazards they would not ignore with products that are used on a daily basis. Candles often are displayed in windows where flames can ignite curtains, draped and decorations. Electrical circuits are often overloaded and extension cords are scattered about, inviting spills and falls. Foot traffic may damage the insulation or the cord itself and children and pets have been known to put cords in their mouths, causing mouth burn or even a deadly shock. Families are strongly urged to make a pre-holiday review of safety practices in the home to reduce chances of injury.

fresh. Needles that snap when bent are dry. After bringing the tree home, immediately remove about 2 inches from the base and the trunk with a saw. This exposes fresh tissue that will readily accept water. If the tree is to be stored for some time, stand the tree trunk in a container filled with water. If the tree is to be displayed immediately, stand the trunk in a tree stand that has a large water reservoir. Make certain the tree stand has widespread legs so the tree will not tip over readily. Check and fill the stand with water on a daily basis. Other suggestions to increase safety in the home are: — Locate the tree away from heat sources, such as heat registers, radiators and televisions, which would dry the tree faster.

Christmas Trees
A freshly-cut tree is much safer than a three that is cut early in the fall. Freshly-cut evergreens contain more moisture and will stay greener longer and pose a lesser fire hazard. Needles that bend and cannot be easily pulled from the tree are a good indication that the tree is

Christmas Tree Lights
Tree lights are potential fire hazards. Here are some safety tips: — Use only approved electrical lights at all times. Use the proper lights for the environment. Indoor lights should not be used outside because they lack weatherproof connections. — Inspect all lights when unpacking before the holidays. Check for frayed, broken or exposed wires and broken or split wire. Inspect all bulbs and replace as needed. Finally, install a smoke detector in your home or apartment if one is not already there. A good Christmas gift for the entire family is a second smoke detector. A portable fire extinguisher is also a worthwhile investment.

The Spirit of the Season should not be limited by the Season. Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men is a message that the world needs every day of the year.

For a happy holiday

Fire prevention is a must

Recent house fires in the area have prompted a note of caution from local fire officials to be "extra careful during the holidays."

"Fires can occur anytime," warns Brad Traskos, Van Buren fire chief, "but during the holidays and especially during cold weather when citizens seek the warmth of fireplaces there is double concern. People are in a hurry to buy gifts and shop, and are caught up in the holiday rush. They forget to take safety precautions."

"They should take extra precautions especially if they have woodstoves," Traskos added.

Traskos pointed out that during the winter the fire department responds to dozens of chimney fires. Some residents escape with minimal damage while others suffer the trauma of a major fire and possible loss of life.

"We're not saying you should not burn your fireplace or wood stove. We would just like it done in a safe manner. If everyone would follow these few guidelines, it would ensure them protection against a chimney fire in their home," Traskes added. He offered the following suggestions:

1. Clean your chimney at least twice a winter. Your local fireplace supply store or hardware has the tools you need. If you are unable to do it yourself, use your phone book to contact your nearest chimney sweep.
2. Inspect all chimney flues and metal piping. Replace any metal chimney that has rusted or has become soft. If installing a new system, be sure to contact your local building department for information on the proper type of chimney and the correct clearances you will need. This is most important if you need to deal with your insurance agent on a claim.
3. Selection of wood. Try to stay with hard woods when selecting fuel. These are ash, red oak, white oak, beech, hickory, hard maple, cherry and walnut. They are easy to burn and give off very little smoke. The most important rule in burning wood is that it must be dry. Burning green or wet wood creates a creosote buildup in the chimney increasing the risk of a chimney fire.

Vietnam vet deadline nears

Vietnam veterans and their families only have until Jan. 2, 1985, to file a claim for benefits for themselves and their children under the Agent Orange litigation for any present or past disabilities, Congressman William D. Ford announced.

"Veterans must file now to protect their rights under the settlement," Congressman Ford emphasized. "The claim is not the final presentation of a case. It merely starts the process."

The massive Agent Orange litigation, the largest product liability case in history, has been tentatively settled, pending final approval by the court. Under the settlement, a $180 million trust fund will be established.

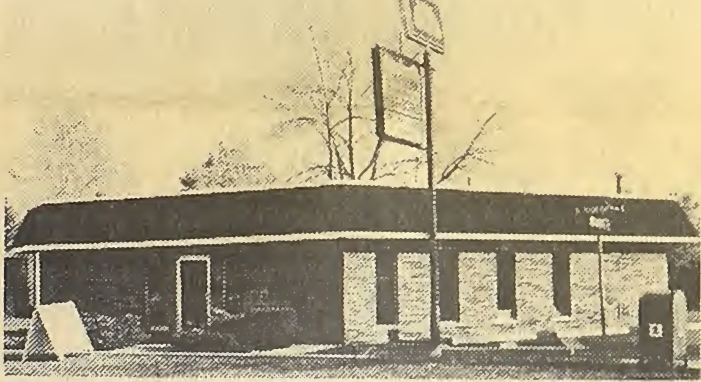

Vietnam veterans can receive a copy of the claims form needed to file under the settlement, plus a booklet explaining the litigation and the claims form, by writing the Vietnam Veterans of America, Box 3499A, Washington, D.C. 20010.

Under the settlement, veterans must file by Jan. 2 for present and past disabilities. For disabilities that first appear after Jan. 2, veterans can file later, but they must file within four months of the development of the disabilities.

Benefits can be awarded for disabilities suffered by a veteran and for birth defects believed to be related to exposure. Next of kin can file for death benefits.

way things are" is fine. I want to tell them that none of us should feel guilty without directly saying this. Can you help?

Sincerely, WS

Dear Mom and Dad,

I am writing to you as it seems for me to be an easy vehicle for expressing some things that have recently been troubling me.

Life, with its strange turns and twists, sometimes leaves a communication gap between people which allows assumptions to be made that are often incorrect.

During a recent conversation with my sister, it became clear to me that possibly, as a family, we have let a wedge develop of undetermined size. This note is intended to eliminate this wedge.

As you know, my life presently, of necessity and by choice, functions around my wife and children. Likewise, you two also have a lifestyle that you have worked many years to attain.

Because of the nature of the world in which we all live, there is a "lack of time" problems common to all human beings. No one seems to be able to adequately coordinate both their business and personal lives and, in short, do all those things and meet all those obligations that we all want to and should meet. The area that seems to be neglected most often is the communication-relationship between parent and child. Maybe this is the case because we all take these relationships for granted.

My "loving" message to you both is simply that it gives me great pleasure to know that you are healthy, happy and vital people and I am pleased and proud that you are my parents. I wish and want for you both to have the freedom to function autonomously and glean from life all it has to offer you both. The space that you are in has taken you many years to reach; the space that I am in requires a strong personal commitment to my family. I am comfortable with my space and happy for you as you travel through yours.

By this letter, I am reaffirming my love for you both and my desire to enhance our mutual communication. We are, after all, working toward a goal that you have already achieved.

Sincerely, WS

A GROWN SON SAYS I LOVE YOU TO MOM AND DAD!!!

Dear Letter Writer:

The holidays always seem to be a time when we are put in a position of having to be in too many places at too many times. This often leads to hurting family members and friends certainly without knowing it and definitely without meaning to. In fact, our intentions are probably better at this time of year than others. The demands put on us by society and those we care about, however, seem impossible to meet; no matter how hard we try. My folks are retired, reasonably well-off and have a life of their own for which I am grateful and pleased. I would like to drop them a line and let them know that "the

Firm aids 'Toys for Tots'

The annual U.S. Marine Corps Reserves Toys for Tots drive got under way Dec. 3, with a goal of collecting many hundreds of toys for underprivileged children in the Detroit metro area.

Again this year, Rent-A-Wreck has "joined the Marines" to co-sponsor the campaign. Rent-a-Wreck's 300 offices nationwide are serving as toy collection drop-off points from now until Christmas.

According to Oscar Rhoton, Jr. of the Detroit Metro Airport Rent-A-Wreck office, "The plain fact of the matter is that the holiday season isn't so bright for many unfortunate youngsters. Many parents here in Detroit are still unemployed, or just starting back to work and can't afford Christmas this year. But, folks here can sure lend Santa a hand.

"Nothing makes kids happier than getting gifts at this time of the year. We're pleased to be cooperating with the local Marine Corps Reserves unit, and we're looking forward to a successful campaign."

People wishing to contribute to the Toys for Tots drive can deposit their gifts (each toy must be new and unwrapped) at the Rent-A-Wreck office, 10255 Middlebelt, between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

For more information, call Rent-A-Wreck at 946-9560.

County executive seeks crime tax cut

Wayne County Executive William Lucas is calling on the State Legislature and Gov. James Blanchard to approve a crime tax cut.

In a recent speech before the Montague-Whitehall Rotary Club in Whitehall, Michigan, the executive said, "The state is confronted with a severe crime problem, considered by many to be out of control." He told the gathering that the residents of Detroit, southeastern Michigan and the remainder of the state are paying for the high levels of crime by what can appropriately be called a "crime tax."

In calling for "crime tax" relief, Lucas said: "The crime tax we are paying in Michigan is far too great. It is time we demand a crime tax cut and ask our state government to go back to the fundamentals, using available resources to build the prisons necessary to get the criminals off our streets."

The executive described the "crime tax" as:

- A tax paid when consumers buy car insurance which is inflated because of massive auto theft;
- A tax paid when consumers do business with a bank which passes on increased security costs;
- A tax paid when citizens are forced to purchase security systems and put bars on windows and doors;
- A tax levied when property values go down because of unsafe neighborhoods;
- A tax felt when illness strikes due to stress and fear;
- A tax paid when jobs are lost because businesses leave the state;

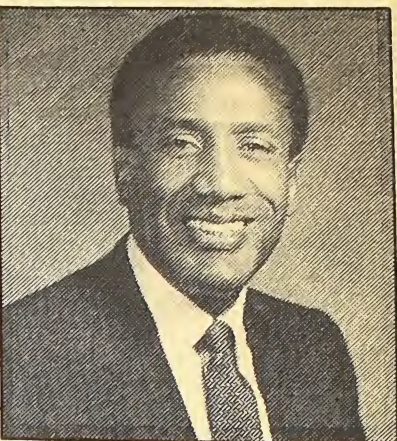

— A tax on residents when jobs are lost because businesses make a decision not to invest in the state.

The executive said state officials can give Michigan residents a crime tax break by:

- Immediate construction of the needed 4,000 prison beds;
- Supporting a capital spending program for county jails on a 50-50 match;
- Making available 500 additional juvenile detention beds;
- Immediately purchasing and operating the Detroit House of Correction.

Lucas stressed that Michigan residents should not be forced to pay the price of fear, while pretending to hold down government costs.

"The people of Michigan

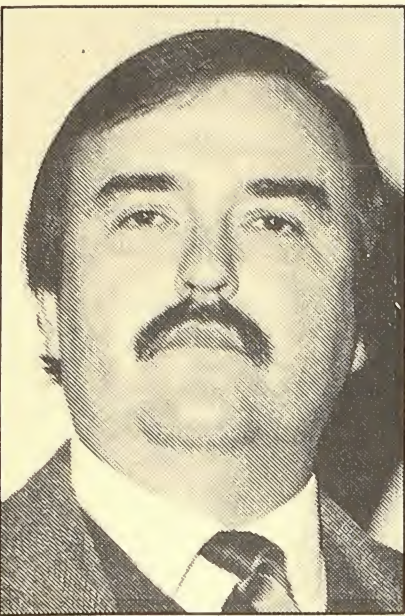

William Lucas have a right to be secure in their communities," he said.

On Nov. 26, Lucas challenged the State Legislature to stay in session until it passed necessary measures which effectively address the prison needs problem. The county executive was responding to findings contained in a preliminary report released by the Lucas Commission to Study Prison Needs.
